Miss Annie Russell, who declined to appear in "Hannese," declares that she had quite enough of appearing in death-plays. It was soon after her work in "Elaine," at the Madison Square Theatre, that she was taken so seriously ill. The idea of floating dead on the barge used to haunt her night and day. She used to wake up in the night and imagine herself a corpse on the silent river. The syndicate now presenting "Wapping Old Stairs" in London is anxious to have the piece done in New York. John R. Rogers, who is at the head of the syndicate, wrote to R. A. Roberts, of this city, asking him to go and see the piece with a view to staging it in New York. Owing to his engagement with Charles H. Hoyt, and later with "Cliquette," Mr. Roberts will be unable to go. Reports from New Haven to the effect that the Yale crew had "gone back" were to be expected, but hardly so early. A short three weeks ago Bob Cook left New Haven much pleased with the work of the eight. Now, Capt. Johnson says "the candidates are listless, carciess and show little life. There are not more than a couple of clean cut oars in the boat and the prevailing influence is fast demoralizing the minority." Cook and ex-Capt. Ives are expected shortly, and doubtless there will be a brace then. Ives will coach regularly after May. It is thought the big race will be decided Thursday, June 28.
